

AT HOME LEARNING

It is Week 5 of “At Home Learning”!

You will find the activities and suggestions for this week in Seesaw.

We have heard a lot of feedback about the struggles of reading and writing at home. This week we have included the first of many “Sight Word Scavenger Hunts” to encourage your child to read all week long. We are looking forward to seeing the results of this Scavenger Hunt at the end of the week.

When writing, your child should be using their sounds to sound out unfamiliar words, but they can also use the attached list of words to refer to when spelling high frequency words. You probably already have this list at home, but we’ve attached another one incase you’ve misplaced yours.

We hope these two tools help with some of the difficulties your child has been facing.
